According to Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner, Albert Earl Gaddy, 21, of 355 Mareno Court, Pensacola, Fla., and Henry Adam Pfannkuche, 20, 524 Mareno County, stopped at the station and entered the building; they approached the attendant, Jack Husband, 18, and told him they had a knife and wanted money. It was later learned, Sheriff Ladner said, that they had weights, the type used to balance car wheels, in their hand.

When Husband refused to hand over the money, Pfannkuche grabbed him and put him on the floor; after they got the money they fled in a 1949 Chevrolet which had an Alabama license tag, and drove down the service lane alongside the station about 500 feet. In an attempt to put out the lights, they pulled the choke switch and killed the motor. They abandoned the vehicle and fled into the woods.

Shattuck On TV Program

Those tuning in WWL-TV at noon last Saturday were interested to see Hardin Shattuck, Manager of Coast Electric being interviewed by George Shannon, Hardin appeared on Shannon's "Town & Country Journal" Program.

Mr. Shannon interviewed Mr. Shattuck to, as he stated it, get a rural electric system official's evaluation of the possible effect pending legislation would have on the rural electrification program.

Mr. Shattuck, in answer to Mr. Shannon's questions, stated that legislation proposed by the present administration would, in effect, destroy the rural electrification program as it now exists—would probably make an increase in rates necessary, would stop the extension of service to remote areas, and would transfer the equities the members have built up in their local systems over to the federal government.

The proposed order would effect milk producers in Harrison, Jackson, Hancock, Pearl River, Stone, George and Greene Counties.

It is expected that testimony in the hearing will continue for several days.

If adopted an administrator would be appointed to set minimum prices which handlers in the area would be required to pay dairy producers for the various classifications of milk according to accepted price formulas.

Attending the meeting are Representatives of the Gulf Coast Dairyman's Association, The Mississippi Milk Producers Assn., The Louisiana and Mississippi Milk Producers' Association and Independent dairymen from Miss., Alabama and Louisiana.

The three milk producers are proponents of the adoption of a federal milk order.

After hearing the testimony by interested parties, provisions of proposed order will be explained by the panel conducting same.

It is customary to allow a period of time for filing briefs concerning the order after the hearing is completed.

The Department of Agriculture then reviews the testimony in the hearing record and determine whether a milk order should be recommended for the area involved.

In the event an order is adopted, the agriculture department appoints an administrator for the area and sets the date when the provisions of the order will go into effect.

Dr. Shipp Explains Advantages

How important is your blood?
Bank? There is no reason why it is important as a blood bank. This is one account that is not reckoned in dollars or cents. It is far more valuable than any level that ever adorned any object. In times of need it is the most precious thing on earth. But like many things it has to be - mended. Often it is plentiful to the point of wasting, but when it is needed it is scarce.
It is like a prodigal. We lose it through tragedy and carelessness and sometimes through ill over which we have no control. That is, lung hemorrhages, child birth, peptic ulcers and burns of the first and second degree. Often the surgeon refuses to operate without an abundant supply of blood on hand.
Where patients remain in the operating room over long periods the lost blood must be replaced if the patient is to recover rapidly.
No competent physician would attempt to treat severe burns over large areas without the aid of blood.

In obtaining blood we need a wonderful program has been organized. A team of experts take the blood and prepare it for the laboratory where it is tested for disease and typed to determine the blood it will replace. Out of every hundred pints of blood we take we donate to the team only three pints. Therefore, 97% of the blood we take is used on our own people. If the members of the families who have used blood would volunteer to supply some for replacement our problems will be solved.
The next blood bank is scheduled for May 7. Many of the people in this county will be contacted and requested to give blood. If
